

A kind of "structure of display card of mini image port bus " contains:

A connector which is used on the memory in a notebook computer and is small in shape; a display card of a mini image port bus which is easily assembled and enables the function of the image in the chipset on the plate to stop operation. The image on the display of the mini image port bus can make a connection with the image on the plate and send the signal to the connector of the image of the long card.

[illegible]